

Using File Explorer locate the program (here is example with Nav38MK2wm), likely placed in Program Files. Tap on menu, select Edit and then in submenu select Copy.

Using Up (left bottom corner) navigate to folder Windows, tap on Windows and navigate to Start Menu (there are many files in this folder so be patient), and once in Start Menu tap on Programs.

Then tap on Menu (right bottom corner), Select Edit and select Paste Shortcut in the submenu (likely you can use Copy as well however then logger memory is used for the second copy of program file).

Now the shortcut is placed in Start Menu, you may select “Shortcut to Nav38MK2wm” and using Menu | Edit | Rename rename file name to simpler Nav38MK2wm. Item Nav38MK2wm should be visible in Start menu. You may have to delete some items that already exist, if there are too many the new item might not be displayed right away.
